

AMERICAN PARTY FRAUD EXPOSED

Checking of List of Election
Judges Shows "Mistake"
Was Subterfuge.

POLICE REGISTER VAGS DISREPUTABLE PERSONS CO- ERCED TO ILLEGAL ACTIONS.

Deliberate and fraudulent tampering with the list of election judges by the American party organization was proven yesterday by careful investigation of the affair and checking the list of judges filed by Fred C. Lounsbury with the city recorder. The result of this trickery on the part of the Americans was that three American party men were named as election judges in the Fifty-fourth district, where scores of fallen women, macabre and vagrants were forced to register by Policemen Kast, Clough and Rhodes on Tuesday last week.

When the fraud was discovered and exposed by The Herald-Republican the "mistake" was rectified and City Recorder J. B. Moreton tried to excuse the tampering with the list of judges by saying that Ben Lloyd, chairman of the Citizens-Democratic committee, inserted the name of W. J. Harvey, a piano player in a disorderly house, in the list of judges.

This was flatly denied by Ben Lloyd last night, who said that he was in no way responsible for the appointment of the employee of a hotel of the name as election judge. Mr. Lloyd puts the responsibility for the insertion of Harvey's name directly on the city recorder.

Mr. Lloyd said last night that he had filed no list of Democrats from which the recorder was to select the names of the judges of election. He said, however, that he had been called by telephone from the recorder's office and informed that he was entitled to a judge in the Fifty-fourth district. Mr. Lloyd told the recorder he was glad to know that the Democrats were entitled to a judge, and the understanding was that the city recorder should name a Democrat as judge in the Fifty-fourth.

Harvey's Name Put On.
After this conversation, and while the list of Republicans was in the city recorder's office, the name of W. J. Harvey, the piano player, was inserted in the list of Republicans, and the result was that three Americans were named as judges for the Fifty-fourth district. The law requires that the judges of election be appointed from lists furnished by the party organization. The Republicans and Americans furnished these lists to the city recorder, and the Democrats failed to take advantage of the opportunity. From these lists, the law further says, the judges shall be appointed, and not more than two shall be of the same political preference.

The list presented by the Republicans bore the names of George Reynolds, William Howard and W. J. Behie, and the list sent in by the Americans bore the names of J. M. Cain, Maurice Levy and W. J. Harvey for the Fifty-fourth district, all giving their addresses as the Imperial hotel.

The name of W. J. Harvey, the piano player, was inserted in the Republican list, and this name, with those of Cain and Levy, were appointed judges.

It is in the Fifty-fourth district that the Americans hope to vote scores of vagrants and women of disreputable character, who, through threats and force on the part of members of the police department, have been compelled to register illegally. The "mistake" in appointing Harvey as the third American judge in this district has been rectified, but it has served as a striking example of the methods of the American party organization whereby it hopes to steal the election.

LOCAL GAMBLER FLEEDED

N. J. Ockreider, who was arrested in Salt Lake last Friday on information furnished by the Los Angeles police, succeeded in turning a trick on a local gambling house, whereby he induced the proprietor to take his check for $100 and advance $30 in real money.

Ockreider said in one of the protected gambling games now running in the D. Walker building, starting to play poker with a small roll. He lost his money and then lost $100 more, giving his check for the amount. Then the Los Angeles financier told the proprietor the game that he was afraid to go home and face his wife, but he could square it all right. If he had $30, the proprietor of the game advanced him $30 more, only to find when the bank opened that Ockreider's check was not good.

The fact that Ockreider beat one of the gamblers who is paying George Sheets for protection made the task of "sweetening" Ockreider a joyful one for the chief of detectives.

FERNSTROM SAYS DEAL WAS MADE

Admits That Administration
Gets Tribute From the Gambling Element.

F. S. Fernstrom, for many years a member of the city council and connected with the administration, confessed last night that the American party had made a deal with the gamblers and saloon men of Salt Lake, which means a steady stream of tribute to the city administration. In return for the payment of a regular amount of coin, Mr. Fernstrom said, the city officials were permitting the saloons and gambling houses to violate the law. So long as they paid regularly they were not molested, he said, but those who refused to put up their "assessments" were put out of business.

Mr. Fernstrom said that while the American party leaders were making the grand stand play of pretending to put down the "inner circle," they were engaged in framing a deal like the one which has resulted in successful prosecutions in San Francisco, St. Louis and Philadelphia. Mr. Fernstrom said the city council recently passed some good ordinances, but these, since the deal was made by the American party leaders, were simply used as a club to extort money from those who paid regularly for the privilege of violating the law.

"You have more of this graft than you have any idea of," said Mr. Fernstrom. He related his experience in investigation of the city crematory. There, he said, three men were supposed to be on duty for eight hours of the day each. He said he had learned from personal investigation that the crematory was in operation only six or eight hours a day, and most of the time, while the men were supposed to be working for the city, they were busy skinning the carcasses of animals and selling the skins.

POLITICAL NOTES.
District chairman of the Third precinct met last night at Republican headquarters and discussed the proposition of fusion on the candidates for the city council. A committee of three was appointed to make a similar arrangement for the Citizens and Democrats, the Republican committee being given power to vote for the Republican precinct committee.

The Republican double quartet will further the fusion plan. A meeting will be held in Ogden hall next Monday night. Speakers for the occasion will be announced tomorrow.

John M. Knight will be the third speaker at the big Republican rally to be held at the Salt Lake theatre next Saturday night, at which Senator George Sutherland will deliver the principal speech of the evening. The speakers for the public candidate for mayor, and at present councilman from the first ward, will be Fred Price, chairman, and George Wilson, secretary, of the precinct organization, to meet at Republican city headquarters tomorrow night.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 19.—One woman was killed and two women were hurt today when a balcony from which they were watching a parade, gave way.

ROUGH VOYAGE ACROSS OCEAN

Arrival of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Farnsworth and Daughters in New York.

(Special to The Herald-Republican.) Boston, Mass., Oct. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Farnsworth, with their four beautiful daughters, arrived in this city today on board the White Star liner Romanic. The family will leave at once for their home in Salt Lake City, which the younger Farnsworths will be glad to reach after a five months' tour of Europe.

When the big ocean greyhound was docked and the gangplank put in use, everybody on the ship seemed anxious to tell about the tempestuous passage. In fact, the passengers were all glad to reach port, for, according to the captain, it was the worst trip he had ever experienced at this season of the year. A terrific gale swooped down on the ship six days ago, accompanied by giant waves, which at times swept completely over the decks, making the passage a most notable one. The storm continued with all its fury for five days, delaying the big steamer nearly thirty hours in reaching this port. So rough was it at times that for nearly three days the passengers were bottled up in their cabins. Three days ago, amidst the height of a storm, a wireless message was received on board announcing the death of Perry. When the news was conveyed to the passengers it created considerable discussion. The ship carried a record cargo of wine, grapes and olive oil.

FEDERATION OF LABOR COUNCIL

Resolutions Upon Execution of Ferrer Regarded as Significant.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Resolutions fiercely denouncing the "murder of Francisco Ferrer, the Spanish revolutionist," who was condemned by court-martial and shot at Barcelona, were adopted at today's session of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. Ferrer was referred to as a martyr.

"We in our personal behalf, as well as in the name of America's workers and the whole people," the resolutions declare, "express our intense indignation, horror and strongest protest against the murder of Francisco Ferrer by direction of the Spanish government."

Taken in connection with the action of the supreme court of the District of Columbia in sentencing President Gompers, Secretary Morrison and John Mitchell of the federation to serve terms in jail for contempt of court, the concluding paragraph of the resolution is looked upon as significant.

It declares that "we take this occasion to denounce the military murder of a man whose real offense was speaking, writing and teaching humanity to become more wise, more free and more liberty-loving, to remind the people of our country that the liberty of the citizens is only secure when trial by jury and in open court for any alleged offense involving punishment is guaranteed."

PREPARING TO MAKE PROTEST

Trade Organizations Will Fight Against Increase in Freight Rates.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 19.—Representatives of trade organizations from St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Indianapolis, Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Cincinnati, Richmond, Va., Evansville, Terre Haute and other western cities are holding a meeting here today to make a protest against the increase in freight rates.

The meeting follows a preliminary conference held a week ago in this city, attended by representatives of trade organizations of several cities. The object is to combat the arguments for higher freight rates and to make a pamphlet recently issued by the chairman of the Truck Line association.

This pamphlet, in short, makes the argument that the purchasing power of railway earnings is less now than in 1897, and that therefore freight rates should be advanced at least 10 per cent. The trade organizations aver that the carriers' sworn statements to the Interstate commerce commission prove conclusively that there is no need for a reduction in wages, and that the true basis of comparison of railroad operations is not financial results. On this basis it is declared that the carriers' sworn statements show the following:

Net income for all railroads in the United States for 1907 was $449,461,138; for 1908 it was $1,257,506. Excess 1907 over 1908 is $388,205,682, an increase of 85 per cent.

CITIZENS-DEMOCRATS RELY ON VOLUNTEERS

The Citizens-Democratic committee held a meeting at 221 East Second last night, at which an attempt was made to form an organization for the city campaign. The committee announced its intention to rely on volunteers to make a house-to-house canvass. Speeches were made by George Q. Morris, F. S. Fernstrom, W. H. Wallace, W. B. King and Ben Lloyd.

TWO MEN DROWNED.

Port Townsend, Wash., Oct. 19.—C. L. Cuddey and James Smith, employees of a steel company at Ironville, were drowned today by the capsizing of a sailboat in which they were crossing the bay. A launch sent to pick up the men, who swam after their boat, capsized, sending Smith and his companion to the bottom. Cuddey was fifty feet further out. Cuddey was before he was reached and was disappeared.

the case and identified King as one of the men whom he saw run down the alley immediately after the shooting and enter the Casino saloon. "In my own conscience I then felt an uncertainty as to King being the man, but others said to me, 'We know he is the man, and so do you.' This influence being brought to bear on me is the principal reason why I identified King. Since that time, and after careful meditation, and after being shown the likeness of one John Strange, I now say of my own free will and accord, solely for the purpose of developing the truth in this matter, that I am firmly convinced beyond a doubt in my mind that the man whose photograph is here with attached is the identical person whom I saw enter said Casino saloon after the shooting of Colonel Frowse, and that the defendant, Robert L. King, is not the man.

The supreme court of Utah then granted King a new trial and he was afterwards dismissed without further trial, after being almost four years in prison for a crime that George Sheets fastened upon him, and which he never committed. For all that time, Sheets had this falling in the shadow of the gallows. It is the same George Sheets who is the friend of every grifter and sure-thing man in Salt Lake, and the same George Sheets who has been involved in the maudlinous McWhirter case.

American Party Needs Scapegoat.

In history repeating itself, and does the work of an election in Salt Lake require another scapegoat? What business has called Frank I. Seifert, Tom Kearns' messenger boy, to the police station day after day since the arrest of Driskell?

When Kennedy and Driskell were arrested in Ogden the word went out that they had confessed to the murder of Riley. Now Kennedy is to be given a fiat.

There has been a word about there being a negro involved in the case. Nebecker described two white men. The police have been told that one of them, Kennedy and Driskell are both white, and it was gleefully announced after the arrest of Kennedy that the word of the guilty parties. Now Driskell's confession involves a negro whom he does not know.

Deny Driskell a Lawyer.

For eight days Driskell has stood behind iron bars and repeatedly asked for a lawyer. He was denied this, and the police he replied that he would talk to his lawyer. He was denied this, and the police he replied that he would talk to his lawyer. He was denied this, and the police he replied that he would talk to his lawyer.

"We walked up the street, and as we reached the alley where Riley was shot, Riley made a move as if reaching for my gun, which he had put in his pocket. I then went for my gun, which was in my waistband, and said to him, 'You're right, I'm treating you right, I haven't said a word.'"

"I knew I got him with this shot, but I shot again before he fell, making sure I had him before I left. I dropped the overcoat and ran back to the alley, where I held up before and then ran through the alley by the wagon building and climbed over that wire fence where I lost my hat. I then went north a block or so, then went to my room, where I stayed until about 11 p. m., when I caught a train for Ogden. I stayed in Ogden all night and returned to Salt Lake the next morning for my suit case, and went back to Ogden the same day."

This alleged confession is said to have been made in the presence of Chief Barlow, Chief of Detectives Sheets, Lieutenant Shannon and Detective Burt. For the special benefit of two Tribune representatives a matinee repetition of the confession is said to have been made later.

An attempt last night on the part of a representative of The Herald-Republican to secure an interview with Driskell, so that the public might be informed through a reliable medium whether or not there was any truth in the statement alleged to have been made, was unsuccessful.

"The Herald-Republican would like to interview Driskell. Will you issue a permit to see him?"

Lieutenant Richard Shannon looked up from his desk smiling in an enigmatical manner, as though he were really amused that anybody outside of the favored employees on the organ who had the nerve to ask such a question.

"You can't see him," was the abrupt answer.

"Why not?"

"Well, we are not allowing anybody to see him."

"Isn't it a fact that representatives of the Tribune were permitted to have a talk with him Monday afternoon?"

"Yes, but—You see, it's this way. They were asked to come in and witness the signature of Driskell to his confession."

By this statement Lieutenant Shannon seems to have been of the opinion that the public would take little stock in any alleged confession witnessed by members of the department only.

A Local Police Camorra?

Is there a police Camorra in Salt Lake that rivals the notorious organization which existed in New York, to the shame of the nation's probolists, during the reign of "Big Bill" Devery? Recent happenings in the department of which Samuel Barlow is chief, but of which George Sheets seems to have absolute command, lend color to that belief.

A sample of the high-handed methods of the department is shown in the alleged confession of Driskell. While the department claims that the alleged confession was made in the presence of four officers and later repeated before two representatives of the Tribune, little credence can be placed in it because there were no reputable witnesses present.

Driskell is said to have recited that on the evening of Oct. 8 he and a negro held up a young man a block or two east of the police station. They secured no money, he said, but took the young man's overcoat. A short time later in the evening, Driskell is alleged to have said that

MYSTERY BEING SLOWLY SOLVED

Announcement of Police Inspector at Work on Tiverton Murder Case.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 19.—Police Inspector Medley, who is at work on the Tiverton murder case, made the following announcement today:

"We have discovered bloodstains on the furniture and other articles which establish the fact, in our minds, beyond a reasonable doubt, that an operation upon Miss Amelia St. Jean of Woonsocket, R. I., was performed, unsuccessfully, in the office of Professor Frank Hill a week ago last Friday, and that she died there and the body was subsequently dismembered in that shop."

Inspector Medley intimated his belief that dismemberment was begun while the girl was still alive, but in a faint from which the drug administered had failed to revive her.

The inspector also claims to have evidence that Professor Hill himself took the body away and scattered the pieces along the roadside, where they were found. The head, he believes, was buried by him.

The report from Professor W. F. Whitney, the Harvard medical school expert, with reference to his examination and tests of the stomach of Miss St. Jean, it is said, shows the girl died shortly after having partaken of a meal. The report also shows that some drug had been administered, apparently to restore consciousness, during a period of insensibility.
